Join President Obama in a National Day of Service

On January 21, 2013, our nation will celebrate Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Day (MLK Day), a national holiday during which we honor the legacy of the civil rights leader Dr. King through a day of service and volunteering.

This year, MLK Day commemorations will include the President asking all citizens to join him in service on Saturday, January 19. Earlier today, the President announced that it will host a wide range of volunteering opportunities throughout the country. Additionally, the Committee is expanding MLK Day service after MLK Day throughout 2013.

The best ideas come from the American people. Everyone has a story to tell, everyone has a part to play.

All across the country, ordinary Americans are doing extraordinary things in their communities to out-innovate, out-educate, and out-build the rest of the world. Every week, we will invite these Champions of Change to the White House to share their ideas to win the future.
