

Findings from the 2018 Survey of Social Work Graduates

Compared to graduates who received most of their education for their MSW in person, graduates of online MSW programs are more likely to:

Demographics	Be older
	Be African-American
Employment	Have more years of work experience
	Practice in a small town or rural area
	Return to a prior job or organization
Groups/Clients Served	Work for a local, state, or federal government agency
	Work with children and families in their primary social work position
	Work with individuals with substance use issues
	Work with individuals with mental health disorders
	Work with individuals who are eligible for Medicaid
	Work with individuals living below the poverty line

